Are you looking for a great job with flexible hours in your community? Statistics Canada is hiring interviewers (census takers) for the 2026 Census in every community! Interviewers play a vital role in census operations by using their local knowledge to conduct the census through door-to-door visits. Census data can be used to plan programs and services that support employment, education, public transit, and health care. There are approximately 32,000 census-related jobs available across Canada. The contract duration for census-related jobs is from May to July 2026, depending on the position and location. Essential skills: A good candidate must:

- have strong interpersonal skills and good communication skills;
- have a good ability to adapt and be reliable and able to work independently with minimal supervision;
- have a sense of organization, basic computer skills and attention to detail;
- be available to work flexible hours (days, evenings and weekends) at least 20 hours per week;

Main Responsibilities In this role, you will:

- go door-to-door to collect census data;
- provide clear explanations about the census process and the protection of personal information;
- accurately record and submit the respondents' information, while ensuring confidentiality is maintained;
- monitor your progress and provide regular reports to your supervisor; will participate in all training sessions and all team meetings.

Applicants must be Canadian citizens or permanent residents, or hold a valid work permit and reside in Canada at a Canadian address. They must have reached the age of majority in the province or territory where they currently live. Statistics Canada believes in the importance of a diverse workforce and an inclusive workplace. Individuals requiring accommodations are encouraged to request them at any stage of the hiring process. You may be asked to provide documentation from a health professional that includes more information about the specific accommodations you require. If, at any time during the recruitment process, you require new or additional accommodations, please inform the recruiter.
