

Child & Youth Mental Health Counsellor - Sexual Abuse Intervention Program (FT)

This position requires a thorough understanding of sexual abuse issues, the consequences for children and their families, and a wide range of strategies for intervention, with an emphasis being placed on using integrated approaches to prevention and healing. The successful applicant will be knowledgeable about the behavioural, cognitive, emotional and social development of children and adolescents.

Child and Youth Mental Health Counsellor (FT)

Responsibilities consist of providing a broad range of mental health services including: intake, screening, crisis intervention, assessment, treatment and referrals for children and adolescents. The successful applicant will have sound knowledge of normal stages and related aspects of parenting and family life and the effects of childhood trauma, abuse and neglect on general development.

Qualifications: A relevant Master's degree or Psychiatric Nurse designation plus 2 years related experience is preferred; however, a combination of experience and training will be considered. The successful candidates will possess good working knowledge of Indigenous issues, and commitment to trauma-informed and client-centred approaches.

As part of our agency team, staff members receive an excellent benefits package and work in a supportive, flexible environment. We invite those interested to call us and request an information package on our agency and beautiful Northern Vancouver Island.
